Keynote Speaker

Ruby K. Payne, Ph.D., has been a professional educator since 1972, serving as a high school teacher and department chairperson, elementary principal and central office administrator.

A Framework for Understanding Poverty teaches the hidden rules of economic class and spreads the message that, despite the obstacles poverty can create in all types of interaction, there are specific strategies for overcoming them.

Since publishing Framework in 1995, Payne also has written or co-authored nearly a dozen books surrounding these issues in such areas as education, social services, the workplace, faith communities and leadership. This led to the development of other program series, including Learning Structures (on building cognitive capacity), Meeting Standards and Raising Test Scores, Preventing School Violence by Creating Emotional Safety, Identifying Giftedness in Poverty, and Bridges Out of Poverty.

She received her bachelor's in English education from Goshen College in Indiana, her master's degree in English literature from Western Michigan University, and her doctorate in education leadership and policy studies from Loyola University in Illinois.
